

Abstract

5 A structure for supporting a bellows (1) from the inside has a guiding track (8) provided inside the bellows and extending in the axial direction of the bellows. A moving member (10) is provided so as to be movable in the bellows' axial direction on the guiding track. The moving member and the bellows are connected by an intermediate supporting member (5).